COMMITTEE TO ACT ON PROPOSED DATE

Purpose Is to Change Inaugural Day to Late in April.

SPEAKER CANNON APPROVES

Local Men on National Committee on Change in Inaugural Date Will Hold Meeting Next Wednesday. Original Membership Is Increased by Addition of Washingtonians.

A meeting of the Washington members of the national committee on the proposed change in inauguration date has been called for next Wednesday by Commissioner Macfarland, chairman.

The immediate purpose of the meeting is to adopt plans for pressing in the Sixty-first Congress, or, if possible, in the extra session, the resolution twice adopted by the Senate on the committee's recommendation, changing the inauguration date to the last Thursday in April. To the original members of the committee, E. J. Stellwagen, chairman of the inaugural committee of 1909; Edgar D. Shaw, John R. McLean, J. H. Small, Jr., president of the Board of Trade; W. F. Gude, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and Scott C. Bone have been added.

The original members are H. B. Macfarland, chairman; James L. Norris, secretary; Thomas W. Smith, John W. Foster, Admiral George Dewey, Gen. Nelson A. Miles, C. J. Bell, S. W. Woodward, C. C. Glover, Frank A. Munsey, John Joy Edson, Gen. John M. Wilson, Theodore W. Noyes, Justice John Marshall Harlan, and W. B. Hibbs.

Last Thursday in April.

Mr. Macfarland said yesterday that he saw no reason why a resolution providing for a change of day to the last Thursday in April, the time agreed upon by the national committee, should not be introduced at the extra session beginning March 15. The Senate Judiciary Committee, he said, would continue in session, and the Senate could act upon the matter if the House deferred action.

The sooner it was acted upon, he said, the sooner it could receive the necessary action by the necessary number of legislatures of the States for the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution; that it would take all the time until next inauguration time to change the date. He said the national committee had considered the question of asking the President to advocate the change in a message to Congress, and had determined that inasmuch as the change would extend the President's term from the 4th of March until the last Thursday in April, he might feel a delicacy in recommending it. However, he said the question of asking the President to consider the matter would come up again in the deliberations of the national committee.

The last Thursday in April was selected on the advice of Senator Hoar, then chairman of the Judiciary Committee of the Senate, who took a deep interest in the matter, and a day of the week rather than a day of the month was chosen, because it would avoid all complications with Sunday; that the inauguration day came on Saturday or Monday, it involved peculiar difficulties for the local authorities in the administration of the exercise and other laws. Thursday would give ample time for the final preparations for inauguration week.

Indefinite Impression.

Mr. Macfarland hoped the experience of Thursday would leave an indefinite impression on the minds of Senators and Representatives, so that the resolutions might receive favorable consideration at an early day.

"No further argument is needed," said Commissioner West, "for a change in the date of inauguration. The record of the last twenty years shows that favorable weather on the 4th of March is exceptional, but Thursday's blizzard demonstrated beyond any doubt that Washington at this season of the year is subject to weather conditions which can be avoided only by making April 29 the date for the ceremony. Inauguration in George Washington took the oath of office on the 29th of April, it would be very appropriate to return to this historic day."

"The lives and health of thousands of persons were jeopardized by the inclemency of the weather, while the impressive spectacle of the President of the United States taking the oath of office in the presence of a large concourse of his fellow-citizens was made impossible. There should be no delay in bringing to an effective result the movement which has been long in progress for a change of date."

"I would favor May 1 as the date of inauguration," said Speaker Cannon yesterday, "and as one Representative in Congress, I will lend my aid to efforts to make it so."

"If the change is made the date might as well be fixed later than April, for even an April rain would cause great discomfort, and I should think that May would promise more certainty of fair weather."

It is believed that after the tariff bill is passed by the House while the Senate is considering it, it will be ample time for the former to pass a bill changing the inauguration date. In both bodies the opinion in favor of a change seems practically unanimous.

REV. ALLISON FAVORED.

According to the statement of a prominent Presbyterian of Washington, Rev. Dr. Alexander Allison, a pastor of West Street Presbyterian Church, of Wilmington, Del., will probably be called to the pastorate of the Metropolitan Presbyterian Church, of this city, to take the place made vacant by the resignation of Rev. Dr. Albert Evans, who recently accepted a call from the First Presbyterian Church of Lockport, N. Y.

Several other ministers, it is understood, have been under consideration in connection with the vacancy, but it is thought the members of the committee in charge favor the selection of Rev. Dr. Allison.

Rev. Dr. Allison is one of the leading Presbyterian ministers of Delaware.
